Aaditya - I liked how he put buildings next to where the streets were that could give another level of detail to people that need it as it can be confusing sometimes.

Areen - Very detailed and using the specific buildings and streets helps a lot.

Joaquin's comment - Most detailed instructions including physical buildings and sidewalk directions to keep the person from being at risk of getting hit by a car or bike

Aaditya - I like how simple it was but i think it can be confusing for a person to know how fat 0.11 miles are.

Discussions

- a. We identified that Yuriy's Instructions were the best because of how detailed and tourist friendly. It didn't matter about being a local or just a student on campus because he put building names down that can help with people that could be lost.
- b. We all took different approaches where Aaditya tried to go outside of campus to have less instructions to be the simplest, but Yuriy took an approach that was the easiest to walk to where it was inside campus.
- c. All sets of sequences stay on or around campus and include street names and physical buildings.
- d. Ideal situation would be when the weather is cool like around 75 degrees and not too sunny and humid and also if there is no train where we would have to pass through the train tracks so it would be ideal if there was no train at the time of leaving.
- e. What time should we have left? On what day? Are we walking? Are we biking?
